

Website use and online shop terms and conditions

Last updated: 08 Mar 2013

Use of the NFU's websites and the information contained on them is subject to the following terms and conditions.

Your continued use of the NFU's websites indicates that you have accepted them in their entirety and without change.

The NFU reserves the right to amend these terms and conditions. Notification of any such amendments will be posted on the NFU's websites.

1. All material included on the website is intended for general information purposes only. It is not intended to be legal or professional advice.

Users should take appropriate action to verify the information provided and should not act or refrain from acting on the information contained on the NFU Online website without first verifying the information and obtaining their own legal and/or professional advice.

Information may be changed or updated without notice.

2. The NFU provides its websites on an 'as is' basis and makes no representations or warranties of any kind with respect to the NFU's websites or their content and expressly disclaims all such representations and warranties.

In addition, the NFU makes no representations or warranties about the accuracy, completeness or suitability for any purpose of the information and related graphics published on the NFU's websites.

The information contained on the NFU's websites may contain technical inaccuracies or typographical errors.

All liability of the NFU howsoever arising for any such inaccuracies or errors is expressly excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Neither the NFU nor any of its members, officers, directors, employees or other representatives will be liable for loss or damage arising out of or in connection with the use of the NFU's websites.

This is a comprehensive limitation of liability that applies to all damages of any kind, including (without limitation) compensatory, direct, indirect or consequential damages, loss of data, income or profit, loss of or damage to property (whether or not advised of the possibility of loss) and claims of third parties.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, none of the exclusions and limitations in the clause are intended to limit your rights as a consumer under local law or other statutory rights which may not be excluded nor in any way to exclude or limit the NFU's liability to you for death or personal injury resulting from our negligence or that of our employees or agents.

3. The NFU does not accept any liability in connection with any third party sites that can be accessed through the NFU's websites and does not endorse, approve or take responsibility for the contents of any such site.

4. In relation to any dispute arising out of use of the NFU's websites the user and the NFU agree to submit exclusively to the jurisdiction of the courts of England and Wales.

Copyright

Except where the contrary is expressly stated, the text, images, graphics and information on the NFU's websites are the copyright of the NFU.

Permission is granted to download and print in hard copy parts of the NFU's websites for personal, non-commercial use.

Any other use of materials, including but not limited to reproduction or incorporation of the whole or any part of it in any other work or publication whether paper or electronic media or any other form, is prohibited unless the prior written permission of the NFU has been obtained.

Such permission can be requested by calling the Digital Publications Editor on 024 7685 8672.
